

FUNDED BY THE CZECH OP JAK PROGRAMME (JAN AMOS KOMENSKÝ)

Creative workshops for schools

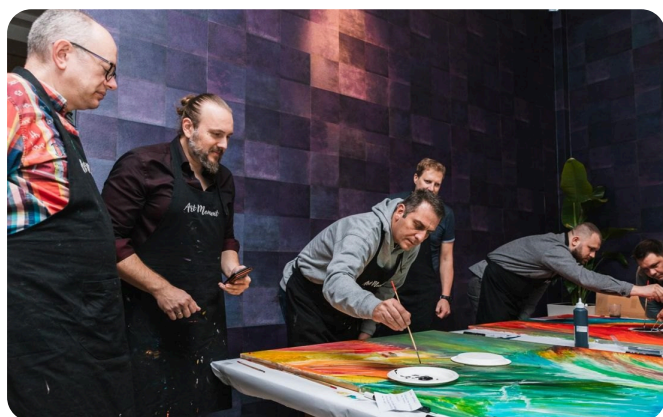

Art as a tool for growth – for teachers and pupils alike. Two separate programmes that can be fully funded from OP JAK. We take care of the organisation, materials, expert guidance and the paperwork for the grant, so you can simply enjoy the experience.

✓ For teaching staff

✓ For pupils and students

✓ Right at your school

✓ Documents for the grant report

FOR TEACHERS

Creativity for innovative teaching and teacher wellbeing

Teachers are under heavy pressure – paperwork, inclusion, digital teaching, communication with parents. Their own wellbeing often comes last, even though it is key to the quality of teaching and the atmosphere in the staff room.

- ✓ Teaching skills
creative methods for everyday lessons, project-based and experiential learning you can use in class straight away
- ✓ Wellbeing
mental hygiene and burnout prevention – time just for yourself, with no pressure to perform
- ✓ Collaboration
sharing good practice and strengthening team dynamics away from the usual working environment

Art as a path to self-discovery

Growing up is a time of searching – who am I, where do I belong, how do I handle the pressure of school, relationships and my own emotions? The workshop links art-making with personal development and gives pupils tools to understand themselves better.

- ✓ Art movements and techniques an unusual, playful introduction to different approaches to making art
- ✓ Handling stress
practical tools for coping with the pressures typical of adolescence
- ✓ Self-expression room to understand their own emotions and discover their inner potential
- ✓ A stronger class
an experience that builds pupils' self-confidence and relationships in the class

We adapt the theme to your curriculum – literature, history, science or any other subject.
